Pearl Harbor Investigators Will Question Cordell Hull

Former State Secretary Returns to Capitol Today To Relate Another Chapter of His Story

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Cordell Hull will return to the Capitol Monday to give congressional investigators another chapter of his story of the diplomatic negotiations prior to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The former secretary of state presented the Senate-House inquiry group with a 20,000-word written statement and a stack of documents Friday, then answered questions for forty-five minutes, but there are still a lot of queries the committee members want to put to him.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he intends to ask "some of the questions Mr. Welles was unable to answer."

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state during the period under review, frequently replied "I have no knowledge of that" when Ferguson cross-examined him at length on Saturday.

Joint Action Agreement?

He made such replies to questions as to whether:

The United States, British and Dutch military forces had an agreement for joint action.

The navy had "drawn a line in the Pacific" with the intention of shooting if the Japanese crossed it. Ferguson said Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.) had been quoted as saying in speech at Boston on November 24, 1941, that the navy had done so. Pepper is now in Europe.

Welles also was unable to give Ferguson all the information the senator wanted about State department consultations with the army and navy.

Repeatedly, Welles reminded the committee that Hull had handled the negotiations with the Japanese. Welles' own particular sphere was Latin-American affairs.

Because Hull's health has not been good, his family asked that he not be kept on the witness stand for more than forty-five minutes at a time.

Grew Will Be Called

William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, said that when Hull steps down it is planned to call Joseph C. Grew, ambassador to Tokyo at the time of the attack.

Among the documents the State department turned over to the committee is a message from Grew on January 27, 1941, saying "My Peruvian colleague told a member of my staff that he had heard from many sources including a Japanese source that the Japanese military forces planned, in the event of trouble with the United States, to attempt a mass surprise attack on Pearl Harbor using all of their military facilities."

Grew said in another message that Washington should not rely upon the Tokyo embassy for "prior warning" because "the control in Japan over military information is extremely effective."

Downey Gives Senators Notice of Proposal They Vole Themselves Raise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Sen. Downey (D-Calif.) served notice on his colleagues today that he wants them to vote themselves a $5,000 a year raise, $2,500 annual expense money and retirement pay.

Downey sent a letter to each senator advising that he will propose the congressional pay amendment when the Senate takes up a bill to boost pay of federal civil service workers by twenty per cent.

The bill has been approved by the Senate Civil Service committee.

President Truman has endorsed an increase from $10,000 to $20,000 in salaries of Congress members.

Austria Backs Socialists

VIENNA, Nov. 25 (AP)—The Socialist party, on the basis of early unofficial returns, received a heavy vote in the capital city of Vienna today in Austria's first free elections in fifteen years.

No incidents were reported as the country voted for 165 members of the National Assembly and 408 members of provincial assemblies.

"National Congress" of Azerbaijan Asks Autonomy of Iran Government

By LEOPOLD HERMAN

TEHRAN, Nov. 25 (AP)—The self-styled "National Congress" of Soviet-occupied Azerbaijan province demanded autonomy today from the Central Iranian government, but disclaimed any intention of splitting Iran or altering present boundaries.

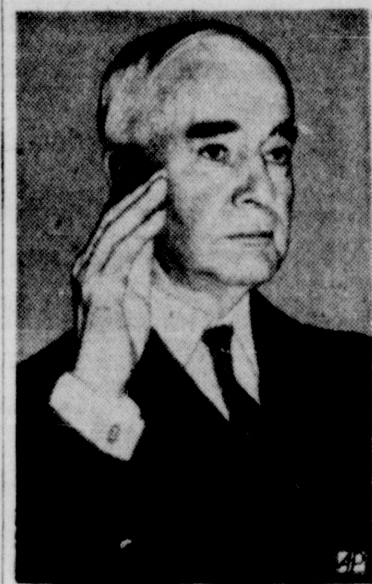

Iranian government officials have charged that the Soviet movement in the province, whose northern frontiers adjoin Russia, has been given encouragement from the outside.

The Congress said it intended to attain its goals peacefully, but would fight if they are necessary.

Assessing that Azerbaijan had "the right to plan its own destiny and acquire autonomy," the Congress said its "just and legal demands" would be made known to the central government in Tehran, and also to the United States, Russia, Great Britain and China.

Willingness to participate in a Democratic Iranian government was

Industry To Call For Fact-Finding Prior to Strike

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Industry delegates tonight prepared to launch the labor-management conference into its fourth and presumably final week tomorrow with a proposal for public findings of fact in labor disputes.

A spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers said the plan will call for creation of disinterested fact-finding commissions and a stay of strikes or lockouts for fifty days while the commissions investigate and report to the public.

The plan is being drafted by M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who will present it to the conference Executive committee as a starting-point for discussion.

After a four-day Thanksgiving recess—following two and a half weeks of meetings in which the conferees only skirted the major problems of industrial relations—the conference leaders enter the coming week with higher hopes of accomplishment.

President Ira Mosher, of the National Association of Manufacturers, last night called on delegates to "renew our efforts, here and now," to bring about agreements quickly on voluntary arbitration, impartial fact-finding machinery, jurisdictional disputes and other aids to labor peace.

He said progress so far has been slow and attributed the delay to what he called labor's unwillingness to "substitute orderly procedures for its unlimited right to strike at any time and under any circumstances." Unless labor agrees to withhold "the weapons of industrial warfare" until orderly and peaceful procedures are tried, Mosher said, there is little hope that the conference can get the results expected by President Truman when he called the meeting on November 5.

There was clear indication, however, that one conference subcommittee will break up in disagreement. The panel on jurisdictional disputes is expected to face two conflicting reports, one from labor and one from the management side, instead of joint recommendations.

U. S. Seeks Information On Red Army Operation In Iran from Moscow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The United States has appealed directly to Moscow, it was learned today, for information on the operations of Red army forces in revolt-torn Northern Iran.

The State department declined to say anything about the inquiry. The persons who disclosed that it had been sent could not be quoted by name.

Some observers expressed belief that it might entail virtual joint Chinese-Russian dominion over Manchuria.

Regardless of these reports, Nationalist papers indicated that government forces were progressing steadily with their thrusts into Manchuria, announcing the capture intact of Hulatao on Thursday night, thus opening a sea lane into the rich territory, which is a disputed heritage of the Japanese surrender.

The papers said another government force had "reached" Chinghsien, 100 miles inside Manchuria, where the Communists earlier had predicted "the first real battle" for Manchuria.

Demands which the China Times alleged "without confirmation" were presented to China by Russia beyond the scope of the Chinese-Russian treaty included:

1. Chinese-Russian development of the important Anshan iron and coal mines of Manchuria.
2. Russian navigation rights on the Sungari river of Northern Manchuria.
3. Joint Chinese-Russian ownership and operation of all former Japanese and puppet electric enterprises, the Kirin-Helungkiang gold mine, and the main arsenals of Manchuria.

Ward Strike Is Set

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—CIO union officials said today a "demonstration" strike against Montgomery Ward and Company units in six cities will begin as scheduled before 6 a. m. tomorrow. The strike will last one week and affect about 75,000 Ward employees, the union estimated.

Vatican-German Notes Will Be Aired at Trial

Documents Will Be Used as Evidence against 20 Top Nazis

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 25 (AP)—Sixty pages of correspondence between the Vatican and the Nazi government arrived here today for use as evidence against the twenty top-flight Nazis whose trial before the international war crimes tribunal will go into its second week tomorrow.

The correspondence was made available by the Vatican.

The Rev. Edmund Walsh, S.J., vice president of Georgetown university, who is serving on the staff of United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson, began translation of the documents immediately. They probably will be introduced some time this week as a part of the mass of documentary evidence which Jackson said was sufficient to convict the defendants.

Jackson, in his opening speech, disclosed that the Vatican had made several protests to the German government against persecution of the church and its priests, but that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, one of the defendants, had never answered them.

20 Carloads of Documents

Li. Roger Barrett, former Chicago attorney in charge of the documents room at the Palace of Justice building, said more than twenty carloads of documents had been assembled by the American prosecution to prove its case and to assist the British, Russians and French to prove theirs.

The volume of documentary evidence the Americans intend to present was indicated Friday when members of Jackson's staff introduced approximately 100,000 words before the tribunal. They expect to take all this week to wind up their case.

Barrett is personally responsible for the vast treasure trove of priceless Nazi documents bearing such signatures as Hitler, Goering, von Ribbentrop, Keitel, Jodl, Raeder and Donitz. He looks away in trepidation cases such documents as are needed in the course of the trial and, whenever they are produced in evidence, he personally hands them to the judges.

Defendants Work on Defense

The American prosecution, after screening "thousands of tons" of material captured by the victorious American army, brought about twenty carloads to Nuernberg. From these, in turn, about 3,000 documents were finally selected for placing in evidence.

At least all the defendants, except former Deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, worked on their defense over the weekend recess. Hess has shown little interest in the trial since it started last Tuesday.

Although there is no prohibition against the prisoners conducting a joint conference on defense, none thus far has been requested. This was seen as an indication that each will put up a separate defense.

All the defendants attended church services in the prison chapel today, except Alfred Rosenberg, Julius Streicher and Hess.

The Socialist Avant, which had supported Parri, asserted that "one word from democratic workers' parties would be enough to change indignation into anger, and anger into rebellion," but added "the word will not be given x x x because we do not need violence to win."

At his home in Fairfield, Conn., Col. Lindbergh issued the following statement:

"I have received no such request. My contacts with Goering were arranged by officers of the American military, one of them at the personal request of the American ambassador. The information I obtained on my trips through Germany is in War and State department reports."

"If I were asked to testify at Nuernberg, I would be guided now, as I was guided before, by the advice of appropriate officers of my government."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The War department reported today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "resting comfortably" at Ashford general hospital, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he is being treated for a severe cold.

Christmas, a Month In Advance, Comes Too Late for Child

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 25 (AP)—Christmas—even Christmas a month in advance—was too late for little Lois Sue Carter, three and a half years old.

Christmas for Lois Sue—because the doctors were afraid she wouldn't live until December 25. Each day she had been growing more listless.

The Savannah newspapers carried the story about Lois, how her illness had been diagnosed as leukemia.

Several department stores and other organizations arranged to surprise Lois Sue with a Christmas—Santa Claus and all—today.

She didn't come off. Little Lois Sue died during the night.

House Leaders Express Fear Congress May Pass Stiff Anti-Labor Bills

By CLAIR JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—House leaders expressed fear today that Congress will pass stiff anti-labor legislation if major strikes continue.

They said they have blocked for at least a week a vote on two far-reaching bills to regulate unions, but that they doubt if action can be delayed much longer.

"We have succeeded in postponing a vote, but only until next week," Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.), of the Rules committee, told a reporter.

"We ought to legislate wisely and sensibly. With emotions running so high, harmful and dangerous laws may be passed."

Likewise, House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.) said in an interview that "there is danger Congress will pass vicious anti-labor legislation if strife and unrest remain acute."

The two measures awaiting action were approved last Wednesday by the Rules group, despite protests of Sabath and other administration spokesmen that they would "stab labor in the back."

Truman Flies over 1,000 Miles To Wish Mother, 93, "Happy Birthday"

GRANDVIEW, Mo., Nov. 25 (AP)—Quietly slipping away from the White House today, Harry S. Truman, a Missouri farm boy who grew up to be president of the United States, flew more than a thousand miles to wish his 93-year-old mother "happy birthday" in person.

The chief executive boarded the presidential plane, "The Sacred Cow," at 8:28 a. m. (EST) this morning in Washington for a quick surprise trip to Grandview, where he spent two hours with his mother on her birthday anniversary.

Washington didn't learn of the president's departure until Charles G. Rose, press secretary, shortly before 5 p. m. (EST) announced that the president was en route on his way back to the capital.

Veteran White House correspondents couldn't recall when a president had traveled so far away from the capital without some sort of advance press arrangements.

Search Would Be Resisted

Troops of the Sixth airborne division were thrown around the Jewish settlements of Givat Haim, Rishon and Shefayim. A representative of the local council at Givat Haim threatened to resist any attempt to search the settlement.

Jewish sources at Shefayim reported their leaders were in conference with the British seeking to prevent a search of that colony.

"We have nothing to do with last night's attacks and we will resist any military or police searches in our settlement," the Jewish spokesman at Givat Haim told the British commander.

The coast guard stations at Givat Olga and Sidna were badly wrecked in the attacks, a British communiqué said. An unexploded bomb was found in the Sidna building after the raid.

There were indications that the attackers suffered heavy casualties. They left behind widespread traces of blood and a number of blood-stained bandages. The wounded police included six British members of the Palestinian police force and eight Palestinians.

20 Immigrants Are Attacked

The curfew was ordered by Maj. Gen. A. L. Bole, British military commander of the civil district of Lydda. The measure, effective from 5:30 p. m. to 5:30 a. m., was taken presumably to increase coast guard precautions against ships carrying illegal immigrants.

The restrictions were extended along the entire Palestinian coast to a point about twelve miles south of Jaffa and Tel Aviv. The curfew, however, does not apply to the immediate area of towns and villages.

The police arrested twenty of the immigrants, including two girls, but the remainder of the party escaped.

Hermann Goering's Counsel May Call Lindbergh as Witness

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—An exchange telegraph dispatch tonight from Nuernberg said that Hermann Goering's defense counsel, Dr. Otto Stahmer, had announced that he intended to call Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as a witness.

The dispatch added that Stahmer did not disclose "what evidence he would seek from Lindbergh."

At his home in Fairfield, Conn., Col. Lindbergh issued the following statement:

"I have received no such request. My contacts with Goering were arranged by officers of the American military, one of them at the personal request of the American ambassador. The information I obtained on my trips through Germany is in War and State department reports."

British Bombers Blast Indonesia Radio Stations

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 25 (AP)—British authorities adopting a gloves-off policy against the Indonesians, sent rocket-firing Mosquito bombers into action for the first time today as fighting raged in Soerabaja, Semarang, Batavia and Ambarras, and spread to Bandoeng, Java's summer capital.

The Mosquitoes struck their first blow at Indonesian radio stations at Soerabaja and Jogjakarta, which a British spokesman said had been pouring out "vicious propaganda," inciting the people to war against the British.

The pilots, ordered to wipe out the stations, attacked an hour after Allied planes had dropped warning leaflets. Thirteen direct rocket hits were made on the Jogjakarta station and nine on the Soerabaja station.

The national committee of the unrecognized Indonesian government met in Batavia and heard Premier Sutan Sjahrir counsel patience among the people.

"I can see from your attitude that you are often close to despair," he told the 140 delegates gathered from all parts of Java. "Whatever the difficulties, our cause stands strong amid the typhoons and storms which endanger our countrymen. We cannot be forced to follow a road we do not wish to take."

Minister of Information Amir Sjarifuddin, hearing that the British complained of anti-British propaganda published in the Indonesian newspaper Mederka (freedom), announced that he would place an official in the office of the paper to review its contents.

Beginning tomorrow, he said, the Indonesian government would take full responsibility for all stories published in the paper.

The heaviest fighting was at Soerabaja and Semarang, where the Indonesians buried counterattacks against the British without regard to loss of lives. Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland reported 100 Indonesians were killed in Soerabaja during the past twenty-four hours.

Despite two strong Indonesian attacks, the British extended their forces east and west of the big naval base and occupied the entire Soerabaja peninsula, about four miles square.

Archbishop Damaskinos Withdraws Resignation

ATHENS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Archbishop Damaskinos withdrew his resignation as Greek regent tonight, it was announced officially.

The archbishop's decision followed visits by the American and British ambassadors, both of whom requested Damaskinos not to resign. The official announcement said Damaskinos received a message from British Foreign Secretary Bevin in which Bevin said the archbishop's resignation would be a "great disappointment" to the British people.

Palestine Jews Wreck Two Coast Guard Stations

British Troops Surround Three Settlements and Order Curfew

JERUSALEM, Nov. 25 (AP)—British airborne troops surrounded three Jewish settlements and ordered a curfew along a large section of the Palestinian coast tonight after a "party of armed Jews" had attacked two coast guard stations and wounded fourteen police.

One Jewish curfew breaker was shot in the hand when he ignored an order to halt.

The disorders were believed to be connected with the capture yesterday of the Greek motor schooner Demetrios which brought 200 illegal Jewish immigrants to the Palestine coast.

Search Would Be Resisted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—President Truman appeared today to have won back to the administration camp—at least temporarily—some of the Democratic senators who actively opposed the late President Roosevelt's domestic policies.

One of these, Sen. Tydings (D-Md.), told a reporter he hopes to be able to "go down the line" with President Truman on both domestic and foreign affairs.

"I want to help him because I think he is doing the right things," the Maryland senator declared.

Tydings, one of those whose resignation President Roosevelt opposed in the 1938 "purge" attempt, noted that thus far he has cast his vote with Mr. Truman on major proposals.

The Senate lately has seen some new alignments on its Democratic side.

Americans Seem "Fast" to Folks From 'Down Under'

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

No matter how destructive to our complacency, it's a good thing occasionally to get the other fellow's point of view. As Bobby Burns puts it in his broad Scotch: "Oh wad some power the little gie us, to see ourselves as others see us."

It seems, according to news stories from Sydney, Australia, that "the United States is full of dreadful people who let their teen-age children smoke and drink while they run around like crazy to get ahead of their next-door neighbors."

As the statement has been attributed to a group of Australian brides who preceded their husbands to this country and couldn't stand things in the United States another day, perhaps our faces won't be as red as the Australian women imagined would be good for us.

GIs Add Rosy Tints

The trouble seems to have been that our GI Joes, under a spell of loneliness which made the far green hills of the United States greener than any in Australia, added a few rainbow tints to the whole country. They were particularly eloquent on our labor-saving gadgets. We pushed buttons and miracles were accomplished.

They spun the tale that all our girls wore silk stockings and everyone had an automobile. Now they have automobiles of a sort in Australia, but they seem mighty queer to us. You start them with petrol, as they call gasoline, and after they get going, the motive power is switched to wool. Logs are carried in the backs of the machine.

Mrs. Curtin, widow of the late prime minister of Australia, explained the process at one of Mrs. Roosevelt's press conferences at the White House to a group of amazed pen-pushers. It's no wonder we seem "fast" to the folks down under, when we run our cars with gas instead of chunks of wool.

Living Costs Are Too High

Mrs. Margaret MacDonald, Sydney, thought America was nice but the people dreadful. A year ago she divorced her American husband. Then she saved up enough money — $515 — returned to Australia and spoke her piece. The complaint of all of the mws was the high cost of living over here. "A decent meal in America cost as much as a new dress back home," said Mrs. John Balboni.

Mrs. Betty Schultz said she felt like an outcast all the time she was here. "The women resented us and said we had pinned their men. Now I'm back in Australia and am contented." And so on and so on, through a long list of complaints. The Australian brides didn't like us and couldn't get back home fast enough to enjoy their economy, their mutton and their wood-burning automobiles.

Edwards Reports Work Has Begun On Water Main

Expressing confidence that the second transmission line from Lake Gordon to the city will be started in the spring, William J. Edwards, water commissioner, said yesterday that work has started on the twenty-four inch Decatur street water main.

The Decatur street "tie-in" line will begin on Independence street at Polk street and will extend along Decatur to Baltimore avenue, from which point it will run on Mt. Vernon place to Waverly terrace and then to Baltimore street. It will connect with an existing line on Baltimore street at Altamont terrace. On the Independence street end it will connect with the cross-town line.

How Lines Will Connect

No changes in individual taps along the route are planned as consumers will be served from the present lines.

A 24-inch line will also run off Decatur street on Davidson to Henderson avenue. A proposed 36-inch main from Lake Gordon will connect with Decatur street at Davidson.

Commissioner Edwards said the work will cost an estimated $40,000 with $22,000 being needed for pipe and fittings.

A special valve will connect the new line with an old one at Baltimore street and Altamont terrace and no disruption in service will be necessary as a crew of trained men will make the installation under pressure.

May Cost $750,000

The commissioner explained some additional rights-of-way for the line from the lake have been secured and that a few more are needed. The cost of the line, which had been estimated at about a half million before the war, is expected to run around three-quarters of a million dollars. The city has authority to issue bonds for this amount.

It is planned to build the line by contract and it is expected that bids will be asked as soon as material is available. Edwards hopes to have the work completed by this time next year.

Fire Destroys Family Home in Locust Grove

Fire gutted the four-room frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Custer and their five children, Locust Grove, Saturday morning.

According to LaVale firemen, while the parents were away one of the children, 14, attempting to boost the fire, used kerosene which ignited and caught clothing on a nearby chair. The children fled to a neighbor's home.

Rail Battle Looms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—A bitter battle is docketed in the House this week on a controversy dating back to frontier days.

The question is whether Congress shall repeal the fifty per cent rate reduction for movement of government property, given by the railroads in exchange for grants of federal lands during the railroad building era. Since 1940, the rate reductions have applied only to military goods and mass troop movements.

Tydings Declares Work Of UNRRA Is Essential

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Sen. Tydings (D-Md.) said in a radio address today that the work of the United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was essential to the restoration of stable government and normal production in the countries of Europe and the Far East.

In Europe, "the whole transportation system has been largely destroyed," the senator said, "the seed stocks consumed, the animal breeding herds destroyed or eaten, while tens of thousands of persons, displaced by the events of war, roam in bands in the big cities trying to get enough to eat from day to day."

Fire Destroys Co-op's New Seed Corn Plant

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25 (AP)—The new seed corn plant of the Southern States Co-operative and 50,000 bushels of farmers' corn, soy beans, red clover and alfalfa were destroyed in a six-alarm fire today.

An official of the company who asked that his name not be used estimated the damage at between $800,000 and $1,000,000.

Thirty-four engine companies, ten truck companies, two fire boats, one high pressure unit and one water tower were called to fight the fire. Chief Engineer Howard Travers said firemen were forced to abandon their lines and retreat from the buildings three times as large sections of wall collapsed.

Steel Workers Will Take Part in Largest Mass Strike Vote

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 (AP)—The largest mass strike vote in history, affecting 640,000 CIO-steel workers in 766 plants throughout the country, will take place Wednesday.

Gen. Patton Is Honored

METZ, France, Nov. 25 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, former United States Third Army commander, today received the Medal of Verdun, an honor accorded to only one other American, General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

A VOICE IS HEARD

"Pardon me, Mr. and Mrs., pardon the intrusion . . .

But I just made a delivery down at your house . . .

And, will you sign, please?

Will you sign?

Yes, I just delivered two wonderful things down to your house.

Peace . . . and Victory!

Of the two . . . I kinda think I like Peace even better . . .

But maybe that's because I saw too much of War.

Isn't Peace beautiful?

So calm, so serene . . .

Makes you think of home when you were a kid.

You know . . . back in 1918 (I wasn't much more than a baby)

My dad and a lot of other dads brought home a peace like that.

Everyone thought it was the grandest thing in the world . . .

And I guess it was . . .

They thought it would last forever and forever . . .

But what happened?

People got careless and sort of took it for granted.

They got too confident and maybe a little greedy and selfish . . .

They looked too much inside themselves and not enough outside . . .

At the rest of the world . . . so . . .

Somewhere along the line they let the whole thing go haywire.

And . . . the first thing you know . . .

Their beautiful peace was shot to hell—gone!

I guess that's why I had this job of work to do.

Now, take that Victory I brought you.

There's a beautiful thing . . .

Complete . . . total . . . right down to the last spot on this earth . . .

Yes . . . we did a pretty good job on that one . . .

Europe, Asia, Africa . . . the Pacific . . . the Atlantic . . .

North, South, East, West . . .

All complete . . . sealed, wrapped, delivered . . . and paid . . .

Wait a minute . . . it isn't paid for yet . . .

Not by a bomb-sight . . .

The boys that died and the boys that got hurt and captured and tortured . . .

They were just the down payment.

The rest is up to you . . . you've got to pay the freight.

For one thing, there's a little bill that I have here.

Uncle Sam wants eleven billion dollars for his Victory Bonds . . .

Bonds that you must buy . . .

Bonds to pay for bringing back the boys . . .

Bonds to take care of the ones that got hit . . .

To pension the widows . . . clothe and school

The kids who never saw their dads . . .

Clean up a lot of odds and ends that run into money

When you've had a war to fight.

So . . . sign right here.

No . . .

Don't make it out to me.

Make it out to Uncle Sam. That's right.

My Name?

Just call me G. I. Joe.

My address?

Put it down as Okinawa . . .

Because . . .

That's where I got killed."

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP)—

Unawed by Sammy Baugh, the Philadelphia Eagles rumbled over the Washington Redskins 16-0 today to win the National Football League's eastern division in a 170-yard rout.

The Eagles throttled the vaunted Redskins' aerial attack with Roy Zimmerman, who spent two years on the bench for the Redskins as Baugh's understudy, completely outshining the Skins' tossing ace as 37,306 looked on.

Passes for Both Scores

Zimmerman passed for both Eagle touchdowns, the first coming with only one minute of the first half remaining. He tossed to Ben Kish, who immediately latered to Ernie Steele and Steele raced across standing up. The play covered eighteen yards.

Steele Van Buren, fleet-footed back from the Bayous and the pro circuits, leading ground-gainer, scored the second touchdown midway in the third period, snatching a 14-yard pass from Zimmerman and twisting his way beautifully through a broken field thirty yards.

Zimmerman converted on his first try but Les Dye blocked his second attempt. The reliable quarterback completed the scoring for the day by booting a 15-yard field goal in the final stanza.

Again it was the Eagles' powerful forward wall that told the story. Jack Ferrante, who made a couple of dazzling catches, nailed Baugh twice on pass attempts and Al Wistert, Vic Lindskog and Bob Suffridge repeatedly broke through to break up Washington plays.

Steve Bagarus, the highly-touted Redskins back from Notre Dame, was just another player when he ran up against the Eagle line.

The victory was sweet music to Eagle Coach Earle J. Greasy Nease, who was subjected to much scorn when his charges lost 24-14 to Washington earlier this season.

May Clash Again

Both the Redskins and Eagles have two games remaining and should they prove victorious, they will meet again in Philadelphia Dec. 16 in a play-off for the Eastern title. Each has won six and lost two.

Rubber Workers Vote Decisively To Return to Jobs

Union Action Ends Strike That Began At Kelly Plant On October 31

All Departments Will Be at Work by Wednesday; Two Employee Groups Return Today

Members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, voted decisively yesterday afternoon to return to their jobs at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant and end a strike that began the afternoon of October 31 after negotiations for a general wage increase reached a deadlock.

The return to work action was taken at a membership meeting held in Textile hall and called for the purpose of presenting a "substantial offer" submitted through Paul W. Fuller, Akron, Ohio, federal conciliator for the rubber industry, as a basis for settlement of the strike.

Officials of the union on Friday expressed themselves as "satisfied" with the offer and joined with Fuller in recommending the return to work so that negotiations may be resumed.

Not Complete Settlement

While the offer was termed "substantial," union officers emphasized that the proposal is not a complete settlement of the issues but is a condition of returning to work, reopening negotiations and working out a full settlement.

Negotiations are scheduled tentatively to resume at 10 a. m. Thursday with Fuller in attendance.

Once the decision to return to work was reached, company officials were informed, the latter said.

Resume Work This Morning

Harry E. Castle, union vice president, said that maintenance and power house employees will return to their jobs this morning at 7 o'clock. All other departments except two—truck and passenger tire building—will resume operations at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The two building departments will resume work Wednesday at 7 a. m., Castle said.

One plant official explained that the two building departments cannot resume work until Wednesday because "production is a little out of balance." He said stock preparation is a little behind and that tire building cannot be resumed until stock preparation is brought up to normal.

600 Members Attend

An estimated 600 members of the union attended the meeting yesterday and Castle said they voted to return to work just as decisively as they previously voted to strike under both the Smith-Connaught and the War Labor Board election on October 25. Kelly workers voted to strike by a 1,460 to 40 margin. At the union election on November 3, ninety-eight per cent of the approximately 600 members present voted in favor of a strike. Between 1,900 and 2,000 employees were affected when the plant was shut down as a result of the strike.

Approximately 220 German prisoners of war, who have been held at Green Ridge POW camp, left Cumberland shortly after midnight this morning on their way to Germany.

The prisoners were brought to Cumberland on various types of motor transport vehicles and loaded at the Williams street siding by 11 p. m.

Necessary protective measures were taken according to army regulations. Lunches were prepared in advance at Green Ridge for the soldiers and prisoners.

Green Ridge POW camp, which officially closed November 1, will be closed down next week.

Trio of Men Hurt In Double Crash On Route 40

Police Nab Hit-run Driver after Second Accident in Narrows

Three persons were injured, none believed seriously, in a double accident about seventy-five yards east of the Wills creek bridge on Route 40 in the Narrows about 2 a. m. yesterday.

At 10 o'clock last night Detective Edwin Lila and Officer J. Carl Stouffer arrested Roy Pershing Noe, Maryland hotel, and said he was the driver of the automobile that was involved in the second crash and failed to stop.

Lt. James E. Van, of the city police, said the car operated by William J. McGraw, 9 Ridgeway terrace, was heading east when it struck the machine operated by Marshall Shuey, Prantz apartments, heading toward LaVale.

One Car Upsets

The accident occurred on McGraw's left side of the highway, Lt. Van said, adding that the McGraw car, after hitting the Shuey machine, went out of control, turned over on its right side, skidded about fifteen yards and then crashed head-on against a pole.

McGraw and his brother, Raymond J. McGraw, 309 Emily street, were trapped in the car until freed by Lt. Van. Taken to Allegheny hospital, Raymond was treated for bruise burns of the right leg and a twisted neck. He will return this morning for an X-ray of his neck.

William McGraw was treated for a laceration of the left hand.

Another occupant of the car, James Bonner, 40, Windsor hotel, was treated in Memorial hospital after he complained of pain in the right rib section and his neck. A fourth occupant, listed by police as "Sumner Norriss," was uninjured. No one was hurt in the Shuey car.

While police were investigating the accident, John Fisher, Route 1, LaVale, headed west, stopped his car at the scene to talk with James Orr, police commissioner, who went to the crash after leaving work early yesterday morning.

Fishes Parked Car

While Fisher and Orr were talking, another car, the one allegedly driven by Noe, headed east at "a pretty fast rate of speed," struck the parked Fisher machine and failed to stop.

Spectators at the accident scattered to avoid being struck by the hit-run car which the driver shortly brought under control and headed on toward Cumberland.

Ewald Ruehl, Cumberland, a spectator, jumped into his car to chase the hit-run machine but was unsuccessful. Following Noe's arrest last night, police said he also will be tried on a charge of driving without a license.

Lt. Van said no charges were entered against McGraw or Shuey inasmuch as they settled the differences. McGraw's car was badly damaged, he added, while Shuey's car was damaged on the left side.

Fisher's car was damaged about the fenders, bumper and runningboard. No charges were entered against him.

Lt. Van and Officer Carl Jenkins investigated.

Paul Gray, 942 Gay street, wanted by police since early October, was taken into custody last night by Detective Edwin Lila and Officer J. Carl Stouffer on charges of car stealing, and the officers said he is being held for the Federal Bureau of Investigation for possible prosecution on a charge of violating the National Automobile Theft act.

Police said Gray and Sylvester R. Lepley, 400 block Walnut street, stole an automobile in Painesville, Ohio, on September 26 and subsequently returned to Cumberland in the machine.

Gray allegedly parked the car on a Cumberland street and gave the keys to Lepley, police reported, adding that Lepley and another youth abandoned the machine near Capon Bridge, W. Va., on October 6.

Drove to Cumberland

Officers quoted Lepley as telling them previously that Gray took the car from the driveway of a Painesville, Ohio, home and picked him up a short time later. They hid the automobile that night and drove to Cumberland later, police said. Lepley told them.

Lepley was arrested early in October and was turned over to federal authorities for prosecution. In the meantime, authorities continued the search for Gray who was found last night in a small house off Gay street. Officers said he told them he had been working in Chicago.

Police also reported last night that they are holding a Cumberland youth in connection with the theft of four wrist watches from the L. Bernstein furniture store, North Centre street. The jewelry display window was broken about 1 a. m. Saturday.

Another theft reported to police over the weekend was the automobile of David Lauder, stolen from his parking place in front of his home, 219 North Lee street.

Lauder reported the theft at 8:50 a. m. yesterday and the car was recovered by Officer Stouffer on East Post street at 5:15 p. m. Two new tires in the car were not disturbed, police said.

Police said Lauder's service station, located on Greene street, was entered sometime after 9 p. m. Saturday but that nothing was stolen. Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the front door.
